

CO₂ EMISSIONS PER CAPITA/REGIONS

Source: International Energy Agency

All regions but Southeast Asia and Central & South America are forecasted to see a decrease in CO₂ emissions by 2050. Central and South America are expected to remain stable. The drop is especially notable in the EU-27 and North America, where CO₂ emissions are estimated to decrease by 68% and 54% compared to 2023.