DECLINING EU SHARE IN GLOBAL CO₂ EMISSIONS

Source: International Energy Agency

In 2024, the EU-27 accounted for 7% of the total CO₂ emissions and this share is expected to drop to 3% in 2050. CO₂ emissions in North America and China are also forecasted to decrease by 2050 by respectively 1 and 9 points, whereas in other parts of the world, emissions are likely to increase.
