EU-27 total oil demand amounted to 520.6 Mt in 2024. Despite all restrictions being fully lifted since the COVID-19 pandemic, oil demand in the EU-27 decreased by almost 8% since 2019. This was largely represented by Germany and France which have seen a decline in the demand by 19 and 8.1 Mt respectively. However, the largest proportional decreases were seen in Luxembourg and Finland at -20.9% and -19.7% between 2019 and 2024 respectively. Some EU-27 countries, however, have seen substantial increases in demand; such as Bulgaria which climbed by 22.6% (+0.9 Mt) and Malta which increased by 9.4% (+0.2 Mt) between 2019 and 2024.
