Europe and North America are the two regions where $\text{CO}_2$ emissions are expected to decrease. $\text{CO}_2$ emissions are expected to slightly increase in the other parts of the world.